Get started with a project lease for cloud/subscription solutions

Licenses, services, maintenance and even the user's own services: all this can be combined in cloud project financing. With this practically proven, off-balance sheet leasing solution, the Miller Group is once again paving the way for intelligent IT financing.

Being able to access the software you need anytime and anywhere: That sounds good. But implementing cloud licenses implies high external and internal service costs - during 1-2 years.

This is where the Miller Group comes in with an individual cloud leasing solution for implementation costs. This solution complements our on-premises offerings and is implemented in close partnership with manufacturers, resellers and end customers. It can incorporate all relevant service charges:

- > Service providers and external consultants, for example to adapt to corporate structures
- > In-house services (internal personnel costs), e.g. for data migration or key users

Advantages of cloud project financing with the Miller Group

- > Project financing includes implementation and in-house services
- > Procurement costs are spread over the financing term and therefore evened out
- > Balance sheet neutrality is maintained even with cloud project leasing

Good to know: The Miller Group has implemented leasing concepts for cloud software and clarified the framework conditions with the software manufacturers in advance. This means that all the requirements of the leasing decree have been met, thus counteracting the tax-unfavorable „reinterpretation“ of leasing as hire-purchase.
